

New Brunswick Human Rights Commission

Randy Dickinson Thoughts on education

I used to deliver the Gleaner when I was eight years old in Woodstock, so I followed the local news here since I was a kid. I think that's been an ongoing message from the Commission and whoever was the Chair of the day, that we have to make sure we continue to do education. My concern is, when I look at staffing, is that we have less staff dedicated for education and more on the complaint side. I think there needs to be a little more resource so we can be consistent in doing the education stuff.